

Artist Bhakti Baxler takes a seat after doing his own makeup.

Artist Jason Hedges premiered his installation Untitled (Judd Caja China) at the event.

SCENE STEALER

During the one-night-only event Balls in the Air, arts-documentary filmmakers Wet Heat Project took over Locust Projects and used the gallery as its personal studio. While a steady stream of guests visited the gallery, the documentarians sat down 50 spirited participants and asked them to speak their minds for 60 seconds each regarding the cultural climate. From artists and gallerists to gallery walk veterans, everyone had a chance to be heard. That's a wrap!

Pablo Pagan mans the clapper for Roy Breslin's interview.

Artist Jen Stark finds a second use for her makeup bin.

Wet Heat Project Director Bill Bilowit and artist Manny Prieses

Keen One and Jason Ferguson

Samara Ash and Agastina Woodgate